OAKLAND'S MARKET TO BE OPENED IN 3 WEEKS

Work Is Being Rushed on Temporary Quarters to Be Maintained at Eleventh and Harrison During Construction

AUTO TRUCK SYSTEM TO COLLECT GOODS

Enterprise Will Be Conducted Under Federal Supervision, Assuring Standard of Quality as Well as of Prices

For stall reservations and information concerning the Oakland Municipal Free Market, call at National League for Women's Service Headquarters, Room 419, Central Bank building, Telephone Oakland 122.

Oakland's Free Municipal Market will be ready for business in about three weeks. Today work was begun in earnest and will be rushed on the temporary quarters at Eleventh and Harrison streets while the permanent building is under construction. Today, also, work was started on the plans for the commodious structure which will be erected on that square bounded by Webster and Harrison, Twelfth and Eleventh streets, and which will crystallize the demand of Oakland housewives and small farmers of the outlying district for a free market.

There is putting into the National League headquarters, a constant demand for reservations of booths and a listing of foodstuffs.

Application for space began at the first hint that the market was to become a reality and is continuing with increasing volume. Already consignees have procured reservations for home made jams, jellies, garden truck, fruits, rabbits, dairy products, confections, but there is room and to spare for more.

AUTO TRUCKS HELP TO COLLECT CROPS

The establishment by the market supervisors of an auto transportation service through the county, the big trucks to pick up the crops of the small farms, is under consideration. It is realized by those who have knowledge of rural conditions that the farmer working his own acres has little time to spend transporting his crops. By this arrangement it will be possible to deliver the products of the market all the fruit and vegetables grown in the eastern end of the county.

HIGH SCHOOL LADS SAVING WAR CROPS

High school lads are being pressed into the patriotic service of saving the war garden crops. Every school has planted several acres to vegetables and individual children have turned small farmers to assist the government in its food problem. The older boys are busy with a scheme which will have crops and transport them to the municipal market.

There had been rumors of the presence of submarines and the passengers were all keyed up to a high pitch of excitement. The first warning came when a British steamer was seen speeding southward. Almost instantly there came a wireless message for the British vessel warning that a submarine was chasing her.

"I will try to make Charleston," replied the captain of the American vessel.

"Turn back. You won't have time," came the reply.

At that moment a patrol boat came dashing out from the shore.

"Turn around and go back to—," megaphoned the chief officer.

"There's a U-boat about seven miles ahead of you. Go back at once."

Then the little craft darted back. The American steamer was directed to go to the port almost at the same time.

Twenty minutes after the American steamer had received its first warning the submarine was reported to have torpedoed and sunk a British bark.

The steamer almost struck the mine following its U-boat experience. A lookout spied the mine when the vessel was but a scant 50 yards away.

The steamer was swung to one side so violently that many of the passengers were thrown from their feet.

Famous Cathedral City Saved From Destruction By Terrific French Fire

(By United Press)

PARIS, June 19.—A desperate German attempt to take Rheims "at any price" last night was completely blocked by the defenders, the French war office announced today.

The assault was made on a fifteen-mile front between Vignay and Fort La Pompelle, forming a complete half circle about the city on the north front, east, to west. Thirty-six thousand Germans participated in the repeated attacks.

"Yesterday at 6 p. m. the Germans launched a violent artillery bombardment on the whole Rheims front from Vignay to eastward of Fort La Pompelle," the communique said.

"Vignay is five miles west and slightly south of Rheims. Fort La Pompelle is in a corresponding position to the eastward."

"German infantry attacked the French positions between those two points. The French resisted the enemy assaults with full success."

"Between Vignay and Ormes (two miles east of Vignay) the Germans were stopped by the French fire and hurled back several times upon their lines of departure. They were unable to reach the French lines at any time."

"In the vicinity of Rheims there was violent fighting, with heavy enemy losses. The Germans were repulsed everywhere there."

"The fighting resulted to the advantage of the French. The Germans who penetrated the wood northeast of Sillery (two miles south of Fort La Pompelle) were hurled back by a French counter-attack."

"The front of the new German attack is the semi-circle drawn by the enemy about Rheims in the recent fighting. The Germans would make a concerted movement to oust its defenders."

The front of the present attack from Vignay, west of the city to La Pompelle, around the semi-circle to the east, is approximately fourteen miles.

LONDON, June 19.—Successful British patrol operations and the repulse of German attacks were reported by Field Marshal Haig today.

"South of Hebuterne we made a successful raid last night," the statement said.

HEAVY LOSS INFLECTED BY LATINS ON ENEMY

On Twenty-five Mile Front, Between Valdasso and Mt. Tomba, One-Third of Austrians Perish at Trenches

ITALIANS REPULSE NINE FIERCE ATTACKS

Captives Admit the Offensive On Piave Is Failure; Divisions Are Reduced to Few Thousands; Regiment Erased

LONDON, June 19.—The Austrian battalions Wien and Erzherzog Ferdinand Max have been sunk, the Italian Minister of Marine, Delbono, is quoted as saying.

The Erzherzog Ferdinand Max displaced 10,432 tons and the Wien 5512 tons.

LONDON, June 19.—The Italians have large forces of tanks at strategic points back of the battlefield, ready to fling into the fighting should the Austrian drive become seriously menacing, it was learned authoritatively.

THE FIELD, June 19.—The enemy has failed to make any impression on the mountain front, and the fighting is centered at Montello and along the Piave.

The Austrians are constantly throwing in reinforcements and are fighting hard to pierce the Italian river lines. The Italians counter immediately after every enemy attack.

On the twenty-five-mile front between Valdasso and Mount Tomba, a third of the Austrian stormers lie dead before their original trenches.

The Italians repulsed nine assaults with fresh troops on the heights of Mount Grappa.

Three enemy divisions (35,000 men) crossing the Piave on hastily constructed bridges and the islets in front of Nerves have been hemmed in at the foot of Mount Montello.

Between the Brenta and the Asiatic river Austrian gains were again reduced.

Three Austrian attacks were repulsed between Brenta and the Piave.

Allied forces still retain the initiative in the mountain area of the Italian front, while the Austrians continue their principal efforts at both extremities of the Piave river line, it was indicated in last night's official statements.

Italians also maintain an advantage at certain points along the river.

While the greatest strategic to the Italians lay to the assault to their mountain defenses, as a major Austrian success there would compel withdrawal of the armies along the Piave and probably the evacuation of Venice and Treviso, the combined British, French and Italian forces have stopped the enemy in their tracks.

The Huns, therefore, have shifted their efforts to acquisition of 11 Montello, the crest guarding the northern end of the Piave line, and to the marsh land along the lower Piave.

In both these areas the Austrians, who are employing close to a million men in their entire drive, have registered their greatest gains. They have advanced a maximum distance of three miles over 11 Montello, occupying two-thirds of the high land. On the fifteen mile front between Fossalta and the sea they have penetrated four miles reaching the Fossalta canal at a point about midway between the Piave and Sile rivers.

Allied troops in the mountain region occupied Raza Pizzo, the heights southeast of Sasso and the spur of Cusarinka, taking several hundred prisoners.

Along the Piave, attacks and counter-attacks constantly alternated. The latest Austrian claim is 30,000 prisoners and 120 guns.

AVIATOR WINS THREE FIGHTS IN TWO HOURS

PARIS, June 19.—Lieutenant Rene Fonck, the young French "ace of aces," fought three distinct battles in the air when, on May 3, he brought down six German airplanes in one day. His record never has been equaled in aviation.

All three engagements were fought within two hours. In all Fonck fired only 56 shots, an average of little more than nine bullets for each enemy brought down.

The first fight, in which Lieutenant Fonck brought down three German machines, lasted only a minute and a half and the young Frenchman fired only twenty-two shots.

Although Lieutenant Fonck is officially credited with bringing down 42 enemy airplanes in all military aviators believe that he has sent down at least 60 machines. He is 24 years old, is cool in battle and handles both machine gun and airplane with great skill.

STORY OF FIGHT. Fonck was leading two other companions on a patrol in the Montdidier sector on May 3 when the French squadron met three German two-seater airplanes coming toward them in narrow formation.

Signaling to his companions, Lieutenant Fonck dived at the leading German plane, and, with a few shots, sent it down in flames. Following to the left, and the second Hun followed in an effort to attack him from behind, but the Frenchman made a quick turn above him and with five shots sent the second Hun down to death. Ten seconds had nearly elapsed between the two victories.

The third Hun headed for home, but, when Lieutenant Fonck apparently gave up the chase and turned back toward the French lines, the German came after him and, firing his machine gun, tried to bring him down.

Several German observation balloons had been brought down by French aviators. Lieutenant Fonck returned to his camp and waited three-quarters of an hour for the Germans to leave of that part and send their chase planes to the scene of action. Then he, with two companions, went out to meet them.

Above Montdidier he came upon a German plane which was regulating the enemy artillery fire, dived 2000 feet and sent the German plane to earth with a few shots.

HID IN CLOUD. Taking refuge in a cloud Fonck lost his two companions. Emerging from the mist to start for his own lines, Lieutenant Fonck saw before him four German planes.

ed, at 1500 feet above, by five German Albatrosses, making for the French trenches with the convoying planes leading. In a ten-second fight Fonck overtook the rear Pfalz machine, fired and saw it fall.

At the sound of his gun the two Pfalz machines in the center of the German group turned, one to the right and the other to the left, to attack the daring Frenchman, but Fonck drove his airplane swiftly ahead and overtook the fourth Pfalz machine. A few shots under its tail sent it down in flames and the victor flew off to safety, leaving the two other Pfalzes and five Albatrosses wondering what had struck the squadron.

The air fights were staged from 4500 to 6000 feet up. The first German fell at 4.05 p. m. and the last at 6.55 p. m.

'AN ALIEN ENEMY' AT KINEMA; DRAMA OF SURPRISES

Louise Glaum plays sympathetic role of beautiful girl trained in Berlin's espionage school, who finally turns on her teachers and beats them at their own game.

At the Kinema today until Saturday a play which may claim distinction on several grounds is being shown. Louise Glaum plays her first sympathetic role as the young girl brought up in the meshes of the German spy system, who at the moment of committing a great crime, awakes a new woman, and, in the play written by Monte A. Meyer, called "An Alien Enemy."

On the same program is one of the new Keystone comedies, being in this instance a "take-off" on those interested in "newsprint clippings," latest news pictures and a travel with Burton Holmes to the Tonga Isles in the South Pacific.

Soon to be presented at the Kinema is an exceptional program, consisting first of the patriotic feature, "Mothers of Liberty," and the first of the beautiful Douglas color films, a little drama entitled "Cupid Angling." Watch for Griffith's "Hearts of the World."—Advertiser.

One British Seaplane Routs 7 Huns American Gunner Hero of Battle

LONDON, June 19.—A British seaplane with an American gunner, K. R. Keyes, outfought seven German seaplanes in an hour-long battle off Terchelling on June 4, compelling one of them to land out of control, while another crashed downward on fire, as revealed in an U. S. navy report to gun and 400 rounds of ammunition, headquarters.

"I was in front cockpit with one said Keyes. "We took battle formation and aimed at the middle of the hostile fleet when nearly within range. Four planes on our port side and five on our starboard side all rising to our level in the meanwhile. Two planes got underneath and were shooting upward, firing incessantly. The air was blue with the smoke from tracer bullets. I gave most of my time to the planes on our port side."

DIVINE OFF ALL TOPS. "I looked around for a fraction of a second and saw the second Hun stooping as if reaching for something. A few minutes later I noticed with a shock that he was in the same position and that his head was in a pool of blood. Suddenly our machine was cut off from the formation and surrounded by seven hostile planes. We fought for ten minutes until we drove off all the hostile craft that surrounded us."

"One of the German machines was sent down out of control, making a very poor landing, while another slipped down sideways on fire, crashing a distance of 2000 feet. All of them were severely punished, in fact."

PIPE IS SEVERED. "During the last few minutes of the fight our engine had become 'popping' too frequently, and I found that the engine petroleum pipe had been severed. Then I laid out the wounded lieutenant in the wireless cockpit, placed the rear pit of blood, and took it myself."

"We descended ten miles northwest of Vlieland. Meanwhile I made the machine's position as good as possible. His heart action had become very feeble. We sighted land shortly after 7 o'clock and quickly made for it. The lieutenant was beyond the aid of a doctor as we made the earth, as his head had been pierced by a bullet. Our plane was riddled."

NEW SCHEDULE ON FREIGHT TO BE ABANDONED

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. WASHINGTON, June 19.—Cancellation of the recently proposed export and import freight rates which were embodied in the general freight increase, announced today by the railroad administration.

These rates, which were to become effective June 26, were found to be discriminatory, particularly with reference to export and import between the United States and the Orient. Hundreds of protests against initiation of those rates led to the decision to cancel them.

ITALIANS HURL BACK AUSTRIANS

ROME, June 19.—Enemy officers captured in yesterday's fighting admitted today that the Austrian offensive has failed, a semi-official statement.

"Both officers and men captured are profoundly affected by their enormous losses and their failure to attain a single objective."

The enemy's casualties have been tremendous. The twenty-seventh and thirty-second enemy divisions, withdrawn from the Mount Grappa region, were reduced to a few thousands.

On the Montello crest the thirty-first division lost 2000 men. Here an Italian assault group penetrated the enemy lines and wounded and captured Major-General von Kronstadt, division commander, who died in a hospital.

The 10th Hungarian Infantry Regiment was entirely wiped out. The fourteenth enemy division, operating in the Candelo sector, suffered frightful losses.

"The enemy continues his pressure along the mountain front and in the region of the Montello," said Premier Orlando in the Chamber of Deputies shortly before midnight.

"The enemy has made repeated efforts on the Piave, but all were in vain. Our defenses have been particularly effective against the hostile forces on the right bank (western bank) of the stream."

"By counter-attacks we have retaken several positions and hundreds of prisoners."

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Austria's grave food situation, coupled with the apparent failure of the new offensive against Italy, is exciting pessimistic comment in the Vienna press. An official despatch today from Zurich quotes the Arbeiter Zeitung of Vienna as saying:

"The situation will be still more serious in Vienna when the sanguinary defeat of the Imperial forces on the Italian front becomes known."

Here's One Hun Who Has Correct 'Hunch'

LONDON, June 19.—"We see more clearly every day that the war cannot be ended by a military stroke, but only by political action," writes George Bernhardt, in the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin, said an Amsterdam despatch to the Express today.

Bernhardt admits that Germany has made a political failure in the East. He continues:

"A separate peace means only protracted war which requires nerve as well as food and materials."

P. F. Ferguson of Oakland, Frank Roseman and Charles Cain, were named a committee to interview the fuel administration with a view to getting the standing of laundries placed higher on the lists of firms getting preference in the distribution of crude oil. Plans for uniting the laundrymen of California and the laundrymen of the United States are to be devised at once by a committee to be named by President Fred E. Whyte of Pomona, the new president of the association.

Hindenburg Nears Mental Collapse

GENEVA, June 19.—The Tribune says it learns from reliable sources that Field Marshal von Hindenburg is suffering from an acute nervous disease; that his mental capacity is much affected, and that he is confined in a private sanitarium. The newspaper adds that Hindenburg took no responsible part in the recent offensive on the western front, the work being chiefly done by General Ludendorff.

PLEADS BETTER CARE FOR SICK

Dr. Kirby Smith, city health physician, returned today from Chicago, where he attended the annual convention of the American Medical Association. Representatives from nearly every country in the world, except Japan and Germany, were present, the doctor said.

"That the city of Oakland is far behind other large cities in the United States in the matter of maintaining its sick and invalids, was one of the impressions received by Dr. Smith in his travels. He referred particularly to the outfit for caring for tubercular patients who may come under the city's charge."

"Chicago spends more than $2,000,000 in handling this disease," said Dr. Smith. "In Oakland we spend about $2 per capita and have a hard time making both ends meet. There are only 2,000 patients in their own homes and in addition have a preventorium for the care of children who may have the disease in an incipient form. The institution is maintained at great expense."

DESCENDANT OF FRANCIS KEY TAKES LIFE

CHICAGO, June 19.—Unpreparedness for work for a living, and discouragement at the prospect of having to do so indefinitely, are the considerations which are believed today to have led to the self-destruction of Alberta Frances Scott Key, great-granddaughter of Francis Scott Key, author of the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Miss Key, who came to Chicago from St. Louis, lived with her mother, who also worked to help in her support. Her body was found in a clump of bushes in Jackson park and signs pointed to suicide, say the police. Her mother could give no cause, except her distaste for work, forced upon her suddenly as the result of financial reverses of the family.

They announce that they are prepared to help great Russia provided the Bolsheviks do not encroach beyond the Ural mountains. The Bolsheviks are mobilizing on the Volga and near the Ural's as well as in Siberia in an attempt to put down the counter-revolution.

WINS LIBERTY FOR FORMER PRISON MATE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—With only six years of a life sentence behind him for the killing of Bert Stockwell in a fight over a card game at Fairfield, in 1912, George Roberts today walked free. He was sentenced to life by Judge H. C. Gessford in the case of George D. Collins, recently released, who took up the fight for Roberts' freedom on technicalities.

After his arrest at the time of the fatal fight, Roberts pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life by Judge H. C. Gessford in the case of George D. Collins, recently released, who took up the fight for Roberts' freedom on technicalities.

Collins, who became acquainted with the facts while in prison, last month moved the Solano county court to set aside the judgment, contending that, before imposing sentence, the judge had not, as required by law, taken testimony to establish the degree of murder committed. Collins also interposed a motion to allow Roberts to substitute a plea of guilty to manslaughter, contending that such would have been the proper charge in the first place, and moved a further motion that Roberts be not re-sentenced until admitted to probation. All three motions were allowed by Judge William T. O'Donnell. The case is more remarkable because the time has elapsed when Roberts could have appealed to the higher courts.

Collins has also interposed a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Loyal D. MacReady, serving an indeterminate sentence for a crime committed prior to the enactment of the indeterminate sentence law. The conviction was had after the law went into effect and, as in over a hundred similar cases in the state, it was deemed to be operative. Collins contends that the indeterminate sentence is in such cases invalid, and that the man can not be returned to the jurisdiction of the court and resentenced, as is being done.

Collins is practicing law with his son, having been restored to all his rights.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 19.—Resignations of three professors—G. W. A. Luckey, C. E. Persinger and Erwin H. Hopt—were demanded by the University of Nebraska board of regents last night on the ground that their usefulness to the university has ended because of their un-American attitude in the war.

Professor F. M. Long and Assistant Professor Minnie T. England were asked to resign for spreading propaganda against some of the professors.

BAKER NOT AGAINST NEW DRAFT AGE

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Should Congress decide that it is necessary at this time to extend the draft age limits either below or above 30, or both, no opposition will be offered by the War Department.

In authorizing this statement, Secretary Baker could see no immediate need for such action, although the date already is in sight when it will become necessary to replenish the class 1 reservists.

A bill by Senator France of Maryland, extending the draft age from 18 to 45 is now before the Senate Military Committee, and at a hearing on it last Saturday, Provost Marshal General Crowder gave it his opinion that extension of the draft age would be necessary. He told the committee that 3,000,000 men would be under arms by next August 1st and that class 1 would be exhausted by the first of next year.

The present tentative schedule of the War Department is said to contemplate the arming of 4,000,000 men by next January 1. That would mean the calling of 1,000,000 men between July and January; and the absorbing of the men already in training in the first of the registration, but those placed in that class under the recent registration as well as some 200,000 expected to be put in that class as the result of the reclassification recently ordered.

All previous estimates of the department relating to man-power have been based solely upon the men in class 7. General Crowder stating specifically in his report on the first draft that it would be the policy of his department to refrain from touching the other classes. The present emergency, however, with its resultant demands for the speedy organization of forces far in excess of the number contemplained, have upset these decisions.

The nominations proposed were:

cham, Jackson; grand secretary, E. D.

shal, R. B. Ogilvie, Los Angeles; and

EXPERTS TELL OF OAKLAND'S HOUSING NEED

The Garfield Civic Association put its shoulder to the problem of aiding in the work of securing adequate housing accommodations for Oakland's coming industrial population, at a meeting in the new Twenty-third avenue branch library last night. After listening to addresses by C. W. Dickey, architect and housing expert; John W. Phillips, former chairman of the manufacturers' committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; and others, a committee of five was appointed to inaugurate the preliminary community work in that district.

Dickey in his talk informed his auditors that the housing problem was the most critical in Oakland's history.

"It will take $10,000,000 to handle it right," he said. "There are 15,000 workmen in the shipyards now, and the problem of finding homes is a difficult one. Even now the workmen of today are well paid and he demands a good home. There are 50,000 more men coming within a few months and half of them are family men. There are only 1700 homes to meet this demand, according to the recent housing survey. How are we going to meet it?"

"In erecting homes we cannot put up shacks. There should be real homes erected. Twenty thousand houses costing on an average of $3000 would cost at least $60,000,000 and could not be destroyed. That amount in Oakland, if we do our best, however, the Government will help us. It has already voted $100,000,000 for housing work. Some $500,000 is to be spent in Vallejo alone, which will help us if we make the proper showing."

NO PROFITEERING.
"There is a plan being worked out which will shut out profiteering. There will be no dividends over six per cent, and the houses will be built by a corporation with no profit. They will be built by factory methods in a wide variety of design. These will be offered for reasonable figures. Something of this nature must be done, for shipyard all eyes are turned to the housing problem for men, and if we do not house our men here they will go to some other city."

"Out of the 1700 vacant houses in this city, 25 per cent are not fit to move into, and 5 per cent cannot be destroyed. We could borrow $5,000,000 for 15 years at 5 per cent interest we could meet this issue. It is your duty as community workers to locate vacant land within your district and induce the owners to turn it over to housing work, at cost, and with a realization of the high profits they expected."

Miss Ruth Foster, University of California girl, and a member of the housing survey committee, which made the east-bay survey for the State Commission of Housing and Immigration, told of finding 200 homes in the east-bay district utterly uninhabitable.

OUTLYING SECTIONS.
"In Melrose and the adjoining San Leandro, we found homes erected by real estate men that were nothing but skin games," she said. "In our survey of some 10,000 shipyard employees, we found that in outlying sections because they could not get proper accommodations close in, and of this 3000 more than half live in San Francisco."

John W. Phillips assured the members of the club that the Government would be building ships for the navy, and that this fact alone warranted intensive housing work being done at once. At the conclusion of the meeting, President W. M. Beckwith announced that a committee of five would be appointed to confer with other housing committees to secure co-operative action.

In connection with the housing problem there has been discussion of the fact that since the state housing law enacted by the last Legislature went into effect there has been spent in Oakland at least $150,000 by property owners who have altered buildings to conform to the law. There are, however, according to the inspector, a number of lodging houses in the city where rooms are smaller than the law permits, some of the bed rooms being only five feet square, while the law provides six feet square of floor space. Changes are being made rapidly, the inspector says.

Mosbacher's Class Makes Dressings

Mosbacher's Auxiliary of the Red Cross, which has been devoting its efforts to the making of pajamas and bandages, started Monday night on surgical dressings, under the instruction of Mrs. Marshall. The class was well attended, and all the girls went to work with great enthusiasm. This auxiliary owes its organization and management to the able leadership of Miss Mae Morgan, who since the beginning of the Red Cross work, has at all times been very earnest in her endeavor to make war work a success among the employees of Mosbacher's Cloth and Suit House.

ANAEMIA AND POOR BLOOD

How Mrs. Burnell's Daughter Recovered.
Drewsville, N. H.—"My daughter was anemic, had poor blood and suffered from indigestion and bilious attacks. As Vinol had built up my son some time ago, I gave it to my daughter. She soon improved in health and it has built her up and restored her health."—Mrs. N. Burnell.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Miss Burnell's case is because it contains beef and cod liver peptonates, iron and manganese peptonates and glucose-hosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weak and run-down system, make rich red blood and create strength.

SAY "BONE DRY" NATION WOULD RETARD SHIPS

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The United States Shipping Board today appealed to Congress to kill the Jones "bone dry" nation-wide prohibition amendment because it would seriously cripple the shipping program and thwart America's effort to overcome the submarine menace.

Bainbridge Colby, member of the Shipping Board, appeared before the Senate agriculture committee and declared that the enactment of the "bone dry" prohibition amendment at this time would seriously reduce the efficiency of the workmen in the shipyards and curtail production 25 per cent.

When Senators championing prohibition attempted to examine Colby, he declared he was not present to discuss the virtues of prohibition, but was merely expressing the views of the men who are in touch with the shipbuilding situation.

A protest petition against the proposed measure from the heads of international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor was presented by Joseph P. Keefe, of Cincinnati, general secretary of the United Brewery and Soft Drink Workers.

Representative Randall of California, author of an amendment which the committee had rejected, told the commission that despite reported opposition to prohibition in California, general sentiment there is in favor of it. Most of the opposition to the Jones amendment, he said, comes from the California Wine Association, which, he declared, is a trust controlling 80 per cent of the wine produced in California and having headquarters in Wall Street.

Concluding arguments in favor of prohibition were made by William J. Bryan, who, replying to Colby, declared his fervent belief in more efficient prohibition liquor than with it. He quoted Premier Lloyd George as saying that England was fighting Germany, Austria, and drink, with drink as the greatest enemy.

While favoring total prohibition, Bryan said he believed a reasonable time should be given for putting it into effect. In line with that opinion, he said, he would recommend that production of intoxicating liquors be reduced by percentages until the nation had become dry.

GERMAN SAVINGS NAME CHANGED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—After a two-day's hearing of the objection interposed by the Savings Union Bank and Trust Company to the application of the German Savings and Loan Society for a change of name, Judge John T. Nourse granted the application, enabling the institution to drop the word "German" and be known as the San Francisco Savings and Loan Society.

When objection to the proposed name on the ground it had formerly been known as the San Francisco Savings Union and later as the Savings Union Bank of San Francisco, claiming that these names were confusing and deceptive, especially those doing business by mail because of the proposed use of the name San Francisco. It was said by the cashier of the latter bank that they are in receipt of $5,000 letters a year, and that about 200 of these come addressed to the old name.

Judge Nourse held that when the bank dropped the word San Francisco from their name they surrendered all right to the name and any other institution could come along and employ it.

A feature was the testimony of Postmaster Charles W. Fay, taken over the telephone, but later stricken out by counsel. The postmaster testified to the ability of the department to send letters to the destination intended by the writer.

"FISH KING'S" PLACE IS CLOSED FOR TEN DAYS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Convicted of having sold salmon and herring at a price in excess of that fixed by State Market Director Weinstock, A. Paladini has been ordered to close his place of business, 540 Clay street, for ten days beginning tomorrow morning. The specific charges are that on March 13, Paladini sold to Jacob Baum of Berkeley a consignment of herring, for which 3 cents a pound was charged, when the price fixed by Weinstock was 2 1/2 cents, and that last February he charged Baerl Fishers of this city 25 cents a pound for river salmon when the price had been fixed at 23 cents.

Paladini has been in the fish business in this city for more than forty years and has gained the title of "fish king." He has been in trouble with the State Market Director nearly ever since that position was created.

Shoe Association Honors Oaklanders

Morris M. Schneider, Oakland shoe man, was elected first vice-president of the California State Association of Retail Shoemakers at the annual convention sessions of that body in San Francisco. Charles Willis, another Oakland shoe man, was elected a member of the board of directors. The convention rejected San Jose for the next meeting place. More than 200 delegates, representing 1000 association members, were present.

The new directorate includes: J. Wertheim, president; Charles Huff, second vice-president; Al Katchinsky, secretary-treasurer.

MARSHALL RAPS LADY THEODORA ON WAR ACTION

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEAD BY WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 19.—Support only the Democrat who is wholeheartedly behind the President and the war, Vice-President Marshall said here today in addressing the Indiana State Democratic convention. The vice-president said that while he was coming to the risk of being read out of the party, he urged the members to vote against the Democrat who was not in hearty accord with the President and his ideas, and against the Democrat who was in favor of taking the German language out of the schools of Indiana and welding into a united people by the use of a common language, all those who dwell within our borders.

Candidates for all state offices, with the exception of those of governor and lieutenant governor will be nominated today or tonight.

STAND TO WIN WAR.

"Just what the Republican party means by saying that its purpose now is to win the war most of us do not understand," said Vice-President Marshall. "What the Democratic party stands for is to win the war as soon as it can be won, and it holds that to the speedy winning of it are these essentials: Conviction of the justice of the cause in which we are engaged; a fixed and definite end to be attained; a wholehearted, disinterested, political and patriotic sacrifice; personal ambition, party pretense and individual success to the object attained and confidence, absolute confidence in the commander-in-chief."

Marshall referred to "Lady Theodora" during the course of his remarks, saying: "Lady Theodora, being left at home compelled to take a hand in the fighting letters in derogation and criticism of the management to a newspaper, which newspaper had as its general manager a man who was, at the declaration of hostilities against the Imperial German government, an avowed enemy of the United States, and which newspaper had published the Rose Pastor Stokes letter and other seditious documents."

"Some men at least are going to object if she is the Republican party and if she is going to fight the war in this way—through the columns of the Kansas City Star—and notwithstanding the fact that she is a woman, she shall not be permitted to do so earlier than March 4, 1921, and not then, if God and the right prevail."

ZESTED IS CITIZEN.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 19.—The Kansas City Star today submitted to the Associated Press a brief biography of its general manager, A. F. Zested, to show his status as a citizen. It follows:

"Mr. Zested is a native-born American citizen. He was born in the town of Toudem, in Denmark, in 1864. At the time his father was fighting in the Danish army against Prussia, with the Prussian occupation of that part of Denmark Zested Sr. became a German subject. In 1880 he and his large family of boys came to America. Zested Sr. at once took steps to become an American citizen. A. F. Zested always believed that act made him an American citizen. For more than thirty years he acted as such. At the election of 1916 he discovered that technically he was not. The failure of Zested Sr. to take out final papers before his son became of age was the cause. A. F. Zested at once set about to correct the technicality and early in 1917 full citizenship was granted him by the United States Court in Kansas City. In the councils of the Kansas City Star he has been for the most vigorous prosecution of the war and has given freely of his time and money to advance it."

ANCIENT INDIAN FRESCO IS FOUND

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Students of Indian lore are investigating the discovery on an old adobe wall of Mission Dolores of a fresco of supposedly Indian handicraft which it is believed will prove to date back to 1776, and which has been long hidden by the preservative applied to the walls.

The discovery was made by Police-man Charles E. Fennell, who while watching working men repairing the walls caught a gleam of color from the dull surface and mounting a ladder began digging away the kalsomine. Soon he had exposed a space about four feet by two on which was a geometrical design or scroll which appears to be of Indian or Spanish treatment. Although the outline is indistinct it appears to be, in one of the details, to be a horseshoe and another resembles the extended hand of a runner.

The fresco was followed as a frieze running between decorative bands along the top of the wall, and is painted in ochre and buff pigments that have retained much of their original brilliancy.

The wall was preserved by a sheathing of wood in 1893, and the kalsomine was applied to it as a preservative, prior to that. None of the fathers at the parish have ever heard of the fresco before, and there is apparently no one living who knew of it.

Husband Told Her Of Other 'Affairs'

On her testimony charging cruelty, including the admission to her by her husband that he had been intimate with other women, Louis Hutchinson was today granted a divorce from Edward L. Hutchinson by Judge Dudley Kinsell. Custody was given the plaintiff of the minor child and $12 a month allowed for its support. The suit was uncontested.

Fifth Bald-Headed Schooner Launched

A PACIFIC PORT, June 19.—The Reims, the fifth five-masted "bald-headed" auxiliary schooner to be launched from local yards, slipped down the ways here early today.

This is the sixteenth "win-the-war" vessel to be launched at this port since the United States entered the war.

GRACE LUSK SENTENCED TO 19-YEAR TERM

WAUKESHA, Wis., June 19.—The final episode in the trial of Grace Lusk, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Mary Newman Roberts, wife of the former Wisconsin State veterinarian, was announced here when Judge Martin Lueck sentenced the former school mistress to nineteen years' imprisonment at hard labor, in the Wisconsin State penitentiary at Waupun. Sentence was pronounced after a committee of attorneys appointed by the court had examined Miss Lusk and pronounced her sane. She will be taken to prison tomorrow, provided she recovers from the collapse she suffered when sentence was pronounced.

SCORES ROBERTS.
In pronouncing sentence, the court delivered a severe arraignment both of Miss Lusk and of Dr. David Roberts, whose intimacy with Miss Lusk extended over a period of a year, led to the murder in June, 1917, of his wife by the woman sentenced today. The court said:

"You and Dr. Roberts assailed society at its most sensitive and vulnerable point. You assailed the home and neither of you had any right to deprive Mrs. Roberts of those rights that became hers when Dr. Roberts took her as his wife and pronounced her sane. She will be taken to prison tomorrow, provided she recovers from the collapse she suffered when sentence was pronounced."

"Some circumstances in this case cast greater blame upon Dr. Roberts than upon you. Still you had no right to yield. You were experienced in the world; you had a good education, and you believed that in this case the minimum sentence provided by the law meets the situation. Your offense demands more punishment."

"But you do not deserve the maximum sentence, either, because of the blame attaching to the acts of Dr. Roberts. Men of his type should be discouraged."

"HONEST GUESS"
"The medium is difficult to determine—what is fair to you and right toward society. It is a question difficult of solution and the best I can do is to make an honest guess."

As the sentence was pronounced Miss Lusk, who had been standing at the court rail, collapsed into the arms of her attorney and was carried from the room, unconscious. She is in a hysterical condition and the county jail, and it seemed doubtful whether she could be taken to prison as soon as had been planned.

Miss Lusk was convicted of second degree murder after a trial which, because of the sensational details of her relationship with Dr. Roberts, attracted nation-wide attention.

Cross to Speak at Rotary Luncheon

"The University's Part in the War" will be the topic before the Rotary Club tomorrow at the weekly luncheon in the Hotel Oakland, when Professor Ira E. Cross, of the economics department of the University of California, will be the speaker of the day. Herman T. Johnson, vice-president of the club, will preside, and H. P. Diehl will be "official announcer." Cross will tell in detail of the war work being carried on by the University at the present time.

Bartenders Donate $250 to Red Cross

In addition to the recent contribution of one day's pay by the members of the International Union of Local 525, for the Red Cross, the union has voted out of the treasury funds another donation of $250, announced today by Herman Looz, agent.

Every Day Real Day For Scouts Boys Having Big Time in Yosemite

Special to The TRIBUNE, June 19.—The Yosemite Valley, June 19.—The Oakland Tribune-Batler-Veitch party of Boy Scouts of America made the first long trail trip to the "rim" of the valley yesterday.

The Scouts divided into two groups—one of hikers and one on horseback. The boy cavaliers continued onward after leaving the hikers at Nevada Falls, and made the trip to Cloud's Rest, now above the snow line.

A battle royal was staged by two troops of Scouts in the first big snow-drift they met with—snowballs forming a great barrage through which attackers and defenders charged. The Cloud's Rest trip took the boys to the summit of one of the highest peaks overlooking the valley, where they were within seventy-five feet of the 10,000-foot elevation. The peak commands a superb view of the great snow-covered Sierra and the sawtooth ridge that cuts the skyline to the east.

TRIP OF HIKERS.
The hikers made a day's tramp by way of the famous mist trail to the head of Nevada Falls. The trail leads through the mist of Vernal Falls, where the boys sat gazed to the skin watching the thousands of rainbows surround them on all sides.

A model camp has been arranged by the boys, each tent being inspected daily and credits being given for neatness, cleanliness and observance of camp rules and regulations.

The first day in camp was signaled by the killing of a rattlesnake. The snake was discovered by one of the smaller boys who immediately attacked it with stones, at the same time calling for help. Half a dozen boys ran to aid him and a well-aimed rock crushed the snake's head. He was a good-sized specimen, with nine rattles and a button.

The killing of the snake made the occasion of a lecture on reptiles, on watchfulness necessary in the open, and on the habits of rattlesnakes.

TIME WELL OCCUPIED.
The Scouts are improving their time learning "first aid" from Dr. J. Emmet Clarke and in scout practice, military tactics, nature study and other subjects for which scout credit is given. Scouts must make his quota of credits each day before he can leave camp, go swimming or fishing or gain other privileges.

The boys are having the time of their lives. From "swim" are given at Yosemite Falls camp through the courtesy of Shaffer Bros. There are daily swims, baseball, and nightly entertainment. Foster Curry has invited them to Camp Curry, where they are to be given a big "cater" with ice cream and cake, followed by a big entertainment. There is no talk of homesickness, and the only day on the calendar which brings a glum look is that of departure from Yosemite.

STRINGHAM WILL AID IN FOOD WORK

Frank D. Stringham, city attorney of Berkeley, is the east bay representative of the great enforcement division of the United States Food Administration for California, according to an announcement today from the office of Federal Food Administrator Ralph P. Merritt.

Attorney Sayre Macnell of Los Angeles, chairman of the board on conservation of food supplies, will head the division and members of the law firm of O. K. Cushing will act as legal advisers. All questions relative to the enforcement of food laws will be handled by this division. Stringham will devote part of his time to the work as a volunteer.

Simultaneously it was announced from Washington that more than 800 penalties for violations of rules and regulations governing licensed dealers in foodstuffs have been imposed during the past ten months by the food administration. About 150 firms have been ordered to quit business for limited or unlimited periods, while 500 or more have voluntarily paid fines to the Red Cross in lieu of more drastic penalties.

A vast number of other cases have been disposed of by the various state food administrators under the authority of, but without special appeal to, headquarters at Washington. More than 2500 cases arising out of the shipment of foods and feeds, much of it perishable, have thus been disposed of.

ALIEN STIGMA IS TOO HEAVY CROSS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Realizing that she is the only member of her family obliged to register as an enemy alien so premeditated the mind of Miss Sophie Koehncke that she sought to end her chagrin by death. In the home of her brother, Karl Koehncke, 437 Twenty-sixth avenue, Miss Koehncke wrote two letters, drank poison and turned on the gas. She was discovered by Mrs. Koehncke and treatment at the Central Emergency Hospital saved her life.

She said that she went to her brother's home prepared to die after registering an enemy alien yesterday.

"I love the United States with all my heart and soul," she said at the hospital, "and the thought of having to be considered an enemy of this great land of freedom overwhelmed me."

"I have been in this country thirty years, and love it better than any other land in the world. All my relatives here are naturalized American citizens, and none of them had to register. The fact that I am the only member of my house that had to register as an enemy alien preyed on my mind so that I guess I became insane."

One of the notes read:
"Dear Folks: I cannot write my name as an enemy of America and continue to live. I love all. Goodbye. God is my life. Please send this to Germany. I love all, but they are wrong."

In another note addressed to her brother, she wrote:
"This is great to suffer for the downfall of militarism. May God grant till my one hope is that our next generation will have peace."

The union will hold its election Friday night. The candidates are Herman Looz for president and Fred Bard for business agent.

INSANITY MAY BE DEFENSE OF O'LEARY

NEW YORK, June 19.—An apparent attempt to lay the foundation for the defense for Jeremiah O'Leary, the Sinn Féin leader, charged with conspiracy to commit treason, was made in the federal court during the trial of his brother, John, who is charged with aiding the former editor of "Dail" to escape.

O'Leary has arrived from Sara, Wash., where he was grabbed from a chicken farm by federal agents. He was arraigned and pleaded not guilty to the two indictments. At the same time witnesses at the trial of John O'Leary were telling of Jeremiah's mental state.

Arthur Lyons, Jeremiah's "traveling companion" on the trip west, who turned government witness, described him as "very restless and nervous, with no fixed mental condition."

When James R. Speer, New York lawyer, who occupied offices with Jeremiah O'Leary, was asked on the stand his opinion of Jeremiah's mental state, he replied that he "looked upon him as a replica of Dr. Jekyll."

Before he was placed in his cell Jeremiah told newspaper men that he had had six weeks' rest, adding that he needed it, for he was in "pretty bad shape." Details of Jeremiah's flight were told in court by Lyons. After stating that their never was any agreement or understanding between Jeremiah and John O'Leary that the former was running away from the jurisdiction of the courts, he asserted that John O'Leary had asked him on May 3 to accompany him to Reno, Nev., "to try a divorce case."

John O'Leary bought two tickets for St. Louis, Lyons said, and when Jeremiah said goodbye, he told his brother he should be back for his trial.

Warns You In Plenty of Time

Far ahead of you goes the intensely bright road-beam of the McKee Standard Lens. Every obstruction, every irregularity, every danger-point in the full width of the road is shown up clearly. At 300 feet you can read a newspaper held at your knees. At 600 feet the light still searches the road.

The McKee is legal—no blinding light goes above the 42-inch dead-line. All the light goes through the crystal-clear glass down to the road and out to the sides—where you need it. Why risk your life with makeshift devices that must weaken the light in order to comply with the law? Use the safe McKee.

A SANITARY MEASURE.

Exposure of a gang of grafters in Washington who have been taking profits out of their alleged influence in securing government contracts will not be found in the final analysis to touch very deeply either the business and industry of the country or the officers of the army and navy.

Some business concerns may have paid tribute to the "manufacturers' agents," but they did it out of ignorance and in the belief that they had to pay in order to get their share of the contracts. If they are blameworthy it is because of their persistent refusal to recognize that the times have changed and brought a change in the spirit and the conduct of government business.

Some officers may have been guilty of technical wrong-doing in dealing with the brokers and agents, but in most cases they probably will be found only to have appeared to have friendly transactions with the agents. In this connection it must be remembered that a military or navy officer must be courteous. If he kicks an obnoxious and pestiferous person down the stairs, throws him through the window or demolishes a chair on his head, the officer is liable to court-martial for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. Yet in a great many cases these were the only tactics that would have saved him from suspicion of being guiltily involved.

The real offenders, the root of the evil, is the army of parasites that flocked to Washington as soon as war was declared to turn their nerve and moral hardihood into profits and, as a side line, advise the government how to save the country and the world. These grafters were corrupt before they went to Washington, but there was no way to get rid of them until they were caught "with the goods." According to all accounts, this has now been accomplished and there will be no further trouble of consequence.

Fortunately the government will not lose through the operations. Payment of the "commissions" is illegal, and the business concerns that offended will face the alternatives of deducting the "fees" from their profits on the contracts or going to prison. They are not apt to choose the latter course. In the meantime the supplies have been delivered or are in course of production.

The main result of the government's action in the present disclosures will be to relieve the congested population of the national capital of a number of undesirable citizens and instruct business and industry that there is only one safe way to do business during the present war. The contract grafter is now being driven from his last stronghold. He was always a veriform appendix that flourished on the ignorance and false reasoning of business men, the cupidity of politicians and the red tape system of delay and procrastination of officials.

Happily these conditions are being purified by enlightenment, patriotism—spontaneous or enforced—and business efficiency. Like the heron who leaves his domicile when the swamp is drained, the contract grafter must either turn to honest work or to some prison community of I. W. W., conscientious objectors, traitors and Hun sympathizers.

GROWING CITIES.

Estimates of a city's population by the compilers of a directory has many elements of accuracy that other estimates do not possess. There are fewer unknown factors to be guessed at. It is a listing of the adult permanent residents of a city, and the addresses of all occupied houses and apartments and business firms. From this data it is not a difficult matter to estimate the total population of a city, providing the work of compiling the directory has been thorough.

With these facts in mind the estimate of population for the cities of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, made by the compilers of the new 1918 directory, will create considerable interest. According to the men who make the directory, the present population of the three cities is 396,233. This is 35,740 more than the population of a year ago, or an increase of nearly 10 per cent. The directory figures are supported by many other signs of population increase and may be accepted as conservative.

Considering the known plans for industrial expansion during the next twelve months, it is not a violent prediction to say that the three east bay cities may contain a population of 500,000 by June 1, 1919. That is both a prospect and a hope based on the most substantial evidence of community growth than can be observed anywhere at any time. It does not seem possible that anything except the lack of homes can prevent the three cities adding 100,000 to their population during the next year.

WHAT A PIG CLUB DID.

From Carroll County, Mississippi, comes an instructive lesson in the value of concentrated community effort. A good citizen by the name of O. F. Turner organized a Red Cross Pig Club. He resolved to combine pork production and Red Cross work and started out to get 2500 persons, each to raise a pig to be known as a Red Cross pig. Instead of 2500 he got 3000 members in a county that boasts only 1600 voters.

Every banker, lawyer, minister, doctor, farmer and nearly every merchant in the county is a member. Most of them raise more than one pig, but they dedicated only one each to the Red Cross. The club will send to the St. Louis market next September 3000 hogs, and the proceeds, which it is estimated will amount to over $10,000, will be turned over to the Red Cross. That will mean a contribution of $6.25 for each voter of Carroll county. At the same time there will be more pork for the country, and through the stimulation of the hog-raising industry, more money for Carroll County.

Pig clubs may not be practicable in every community, or may not be the best device for aiding the country. But the idea of Carroll County, Mississippi, is a good thing for every city and every citizen. It was thrift, savings and devotion of effort to a single cause that won recognition for the pig club. It will bring success to any other effort to help the country.

Just now the government desires the people to invest in war savings certificates, and Oakland's quota for the next six months is $4,000,000.

Mr. David Lubin, the distinguished Californian who heads the International Institute of Agriculture in Rome, received in due time a copy of the Congressional report which showed that Senator John Sharp Williams had on March 9th last joined in assailing Mr. Lubin's record of public statements on economic subjects. Senator Williams charged that twenty-five years ago Mr. Lubin had advocated a duty on agricultural exports. To Mr. Williams' mind that convicted Mr. Lubin of downright foolishness. But Mr. Lubin disposes of the charge in a few words in a letter to his friend, Senator Johnson of California: "I never advocated anything of the kind. It was a bounty, not duty, on exports that I advocated." There is quite a difference between duty and bounty, but it may be that Senator Williams has such an ingrained hatred of duty that he anathematizes every word ending with "ty." Still this would not be so inconsistent to the mind of the free trader as it at first sight seems.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Local pride is greater in inverse ratio to the population. It means more to Hick Corners that Sam Smith has been made a corporal than Samuel Smythe's promotion to a captaincy means to New York.

Cruel and inhuman was the San Diego school board's method of settling a student's strike. They cancelled all commencement week exercises and nipped a lot of enthusiastic oratory in the embryo, thus depriving numerous fond parents of the hope of hearing their offspring spout something else than "Pop, give me a dollar."

New York personal: Jeremiah O'Leary, prominent in police circles, has returned to New York after a sojourn at his summer home in the State of Washington.

Our idea of nothing to worry about during June, July, August and September is the announcement of a rise in the price of coal.

Oakland boys, aged 9 and 7, who started out to find adventure and merely landed in Sacramento, have a kick coming at Fate.

We see by the papers that the Bolsheviks have issued a call to the colors. Color of German money, mayhap?

Eugene Debs, having made a speech, now has the Department of Justice on his trail. He opened his mouth and the government put its foot into it.

That Chicago scientist who has discovered that ultra-tall women seldom have love affairs should be reminded of the twisted proverb, "It's a long Jane that has no yearning."

The head-writer made it, "Trench like responsible for mystery-fever," and he was talking about the Hun warriors, either.

A San Francisco court has ruled in a divorce action that the wife in question must not annoy her husband. And, harsher still, the definition of "annoyance" seems to have been left to the husband.

That San Francisco boy burglar who asked his victim to bail him out is well enough supplied with nerve to make a successful profiteer or a motion picture actor.

Despite seizure of the Busch estate it is not even probable that Congress will authorize a Beer Administration.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Stockton votes next Wednesday on the proposition of closing the saloons of that city as a war measure. The government has asked that all non-essential businesses be curtailed, and the Stockton people are undoubtedly on the right track as no one can contravene the saloon as an essential business. Modesto has banished the saloon forever, and it looks as if Stockton is to be cleaned up along with the other forward-looking cities of the state.—Modesto News.

Attorney George Ross told the Enterprise reporter that he had traveled seventy miles to discover a piece of news that is very little known to the general public in Los Banos. He learned it by a very recent visit to the Mendota dam, and remarked that the San Joaquin river has risen several feet as the result of the melted snow in the mountains.—Los Banos Enterprise.

That shipments of potatoes will reach fifty cars a day by next week is the forecast of James Russell, manager of the San Bernardino Valley Produce Association, which will handle spuds from Riverside county. Tucupa has joined the association with 200 acres, Bloomington with 75 acres, Beaumont has signed up for 150 acres and San Jacinto will turn out the product of 100 acres.—Riverside Press.

Constable Henry Seeband on Tuesday arrested three hobos near the W. P. cattle corral on charges of vagrancy, and Justice Fitzgerald gave one of them ninety days and the other two sixty days apiece in the county jail. Constable Seeband says all hobos found here will be promptly arrested, as there is no excuse for able-bodied men being idle in these war times.—Livermore Echo.

It is very apparent that it is up to the Board of Education of Eureka to make a public statement with reference to the exodus of teachers from the staff of the high school. There is something wrong somewhere, and for the sake of the children and also for the public information there is a pressing demand for an explanation from the board as to why approximately a dozen of the teachers have either quit or been asked to resign.—Humboldt Times.

Even more rapid expansion of the California sardine canning business than has been made heretofore is planned for the 1918 season. California canners will endeavor to pack more sardines than the Maine coast packers have yet put up in a single season. The Commercial Bulletin of Los Angeles says that the California sardine pack for this year will exceed that of Maine, which last year amounted to 2,500,000 cases, compared with 1,800,000 packed in California. This paper asserts that the fish packed in California are true sardines, while Maine packs a small herring, even though none but experts know which is which.

LOVE IN THE GUN FACTORY.

A man who lives in a fine home in Stratford-road in normal times has not been able to get home for three months. He works twenty hours a day in his machine tool business near the Brooklyn water front. He has a number of large war contracts, is short of men—could use fifty more expert machinists—and must bend to the big task himself. He and his wife keep house in the office. The wife is the stenographer and bookkeeper. Love in a cottage has passed out for love in the gun factory. The art of blowing Germans apart is interesting in its details. To make a five-inch gun such as this man is at work upon costs $9,000,000 for the plant alone. Looking at the quiet exterior of this shop one might think nothing was going on behind the walls. Once inside it looks like war. The machinery which holds the massive guns while they are being machine-tooled is being made here, and the process is as exact and delicate as watchmaking. It is hard work for the employer, but for once in his life he has all he can do at good prices and he is thoroughly happy over it. He refused the offer of a small fortune for his plant. A wise man keeps in his harness and avoids regrets. We little realize what a busy place Brooklyn is.—Brooklyn Eagle.

ON THE DANISH STAGE.

While the lighter forms of dramatic art in Denmark are dominated by the Viennese ideals of modern music, while Wagner is sung every year at the Royal Opera, with the great tenor, Cornelius, in the heroic roles, a Danish singer who should attempt to sing in German on the stage of any theater of Copenhagen would be hissed from the stage. The most popular operas of the last three years have been "Eugene Onegin" and "Faust," of which the Danes never tire. No year passes without the revival of the most important comedies of their great dramatic author, Holberg, whose traditions are very scrupulously maintained at the Royal Theater. Their favorite buffo, Olaf Poulsen, was the ideal actor of certain of Holberg's heroes, and certainly one of the best of Falstaffs. As to modern plays, very few are imported from Germany. Of late, since the French dramatists have ceased to produce, the Danish stage has turned to the United States and England. "Milkstones," for instance, was an enormous success, and "Romance" held interested audiences for weeks. I have merely mentioned the attitude of the Dane toward literature, art and science to show that in these vital things he is Danish to the core, and in no way under the spell of the dominating mentality of his southern neighbor.—Maurice Francis Egan in the April Yale Review.

THE JESTER

Willing Workers.

At a recent meeting of horticulturalists in California the question of the scarcity of labor in harvest time came up for discussion. One of the growers related his experience with a number of I. W. W.

"I was in need of help to harvest my prune crop," said the grower, "and I went to a saloon in a nearby city. On entering the place I accosted the barkeeper and asked him if any of the men lounging about the place cared for employment at good wages."

"I dunno," said the mixer, "yer better ask 'em."

"Any of you men want to go to work?" I said.

"I was a damn fool," said the grower, "and I spoke up and queried, 'What doing, and what do yer pay?'"

"Picking prunes," I replied, "and I pay $3 a day and board."

"What kind of a place is it?" asked the garrulous one.

"It is an attractive, rolling orchard," I answered.

"The I. W. W. spokesman rose from his chair, yawned, stretched himself, and said, 'Well, roll her in here and let's see her, and we'll tell yer if we wants the job.'—Everybody Magazine.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

RALPH HERZ

The eminent star opens the summer season at the Macdonough with a notable company, including Mark Smith, Marie Chambers, James Liddy, Dorothy Neville, Mary McMultry, Ernest Van Pelt, Mae Thorne and many others, including singing and dancing stars in a series of sensational New York reviews.

Although Mr. Herz has always been an extremely successful "two-dollar star," the summer season at the Macdonough will be limited to a "dollar season" in spite of the production of the high-salaried principals, and the galaxy of singing and dancing people in the cast.

The opening production next Monday night will be George V. Hobart's Broadway Success, "WHAT IS YOUR HUSBAND DOING?" Seats may be reserved now.

BIG PARADE WILL FEATURE SANE FOURTH

Oakland will spend a safe and sane Fourth of July this year, sans fireworks, firecrackers, bombs and other explosives. In place of these ear-splitting, hair-raising, and generally dangerous things will prevail, which is to mark the passing of ancient custom, and the inauguration of a program of patriotic observance on a large scale.

The Merchants' Exchange, to which by right of time-honored precedent belongs the privilege of staging the Fourth of July celebration, has arranged an elaborate program this year which will parade of military and naval pageant, athletic carnival, aquatic display, and social entertainment. The program will begin at 10 o'clock on the morning of the Fourth and will last until midnight. City and county officials have promised co-operation and the final arrangements have been made.

PARADE IS FEATURE.

The big feature of the day will be a military and naval parade through the downtown district which is planned to eclipse anything ever seen in the city. Detachments have been promised by the government from Coast Island, Mare Island, Camp Fremont, the aeronautical school at Dumbarton, and the military division at the Presidio. A score of bands will be in the line of march, which will take in Washington street, Broadway, Clay street and San Pablo avenue, as well as several of the main cross town streets. The parade will be divided into the military sections, the industrial section, the fraternal section and the junior detachment. Floats, decorated automobiles and feature displays of all kinds have been promised by the shipworkers of the various eastbay yards, the Moose and Elks lodges, the Native Sons and Daughters and five other fraternal lodges. The parade will counter-march before the city hall where it will be reviewed by city officials and army officers.

EXERCISES AT LAKE.

In the afternoon special exercises will be staged on the shores of Lake Merritt. Four-minute talks by representatives of each of the allied nations in English and their own tongue will be featured. Men, recently with Pershing in the war zone, British soldiers, Canadian Pioneers and others will also make brief addresses in honor of the day. Boat races and aquatic events will occur on Lake Merritt, and several athletic events arranged, notably races, high jumping contests and hurdling. The latter will be under the auspices of the city playground division.

Beginning at 3 o'clock the Oakland Auditorium will be thrown open to every man in the uniform of the United States. No one without the uniform will be permitted. There will be dancing all afternoon until 7 o'clock in the evening under the chaperonage of the Defenders' Club.

Expected, the Oakland girls playing host to the visitors. At 2 o'clock in the evening the big public Fourth of July ball, given by Mayor John L. Davis and city officials will formally open. Mayor Davis will lead the grand march, and persons in all walks of life will attend. It will be Oakland's ball to reveal until midnight, and the doors will be open. The ball will take the place of the usual fireworks display, which, according to the government viewpoint, represents a waste of powder and other munitions of war.

RE-DEDICATION DAY PLANS MADE

Plans rapidly being perfected for the Re-Dedication Day celebration to be held Saturday under the auspices of the War Service League give promise that the program will be one to merit the large attendance that is expected at Neptune Beach, where the services are to be held. The State Council of Defense has sent word that two army men recently from the French front will speak both afternoon and evening. William N. Friend, president of the day, will lead some four-minute addresses by well-informed men and women. Ng Poon Chow, the Chinese editor and representative of his government, is also to speak, and Governor Stephens has sent word that he can make necessary changes in his plans he will be on hand for a patriotic address. Special numbers have been arranged for children, including spectacular and patriotic tableaux and fancy dancing, swimming contests, basque playing by a kilted Highlander and singing of popular school songs. The rendition of national music, both instrumental and vocal, is another feature and community singing, which has become very popular during war times, will be led by professionals who have donated their services for the benefit of the League. Arrangements have been concluded for taking care of twenty-five thousand people, and it is expected that the attendance will make a new record for loyal demonstrations in this county. Miss Vivienne Tweedle of Alameda has charge of the tableaux and dancing numbers, and her program consists of six numbers by the same girls who did such good work at Red Cross benefits recently. The War Service League announces that the regular attendance of ten cents permits the free enjoyment of all the special programs of afternoon and evening.

Increase Shown in Insanity in State

California's insanity is increasing, according to figures compiled by the State Board of Charities and Corrections, just issued at Sacramento. In 1917 there were 10,155 insane persons in State hospitals. In 1918, the same month, this number had increased to 10,278, or an advance of 122. Feeble-mindedness increased from 1213 to 1311 in the same period. The total number of inmates in State institutions, however, showed material decreases within that period, as an offset, dropping from 15,745 to 15,464 persons. Decreases in the reform school population are noted as partially responsible for this drop. The State prison figures show 3903 men and 25 women in San Quentin and Folsom penitentiaries, with 1065 on parole.

WOMAN MOTORCAR EXPERT IS DEAD

40, wife of a prominent automobile man of San Francisco, marks the passing of the most widely known woman in coast automobile circles, and one whose name was familiar to motorists all over the United States.

As editor of the first motoring magazine on the Pacific Coast in 1904 and two years later organizer of the California Woman's Automobile Club, of which she became president, she made a most of friends among the automobile public. She was the first licensed woman driver in the State and was the first woman to handle the wheel of a racing car over a regular course, driving a fast lap over the Vanderbilt course in 1908.

As a writer she won distinction for articles on motoring, highway improvement and road conditions. She was for some time in 1906 automobile editor of the TRIBUNE. During her work for the gasoline fraternity, she won more cups and marks of distinction than any other woman in the United States. She organized a Red Cross motor-ambulance team, of which she was captain at the outbreak of the war.

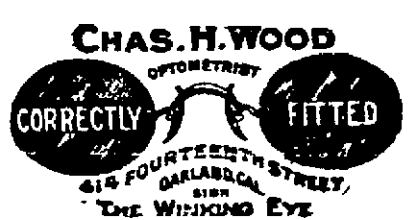

Mrs. Linz has a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Linz, and a sister, Mrs. M. E. Lurich of Chicago, who survive her, in addition to her husband. She was a native of New York. Funeral services will be held tomorrow and will be private.

Purchasing Agents Are to Dine Here

Members of the Purchasing Agents' Association of Northern California will assemble in the Hotel Oakland tomorrow evening at 6.30 o'clock, the occasion being their regular monthly meeting and dinner. This is the first time that the association has met outside of San Francisco, and the change is in line with the policy of the purchasing agents to extend the scope of the association work to include all purchasing agents in Northern California. It is possible that meetings may be held in other Northern California cities in the future to interest men who purchase in the association work. The meeting tomorrow will be particularly interesting. The program committee has scheduled several speakers whose messages will be helpful to the purchasing agent.

SERVICE BODY URGES HIGHER CITY SALARIES

Further concession was made by the Civil Service Board last night in meeting the demands of the civil service employees for a higher salary scale when it was decided following a conference, to recommend to the City Council certain increases to take effect July 10.

While the demands of the employees for a flat raise of 20 per cent for all positions under $150 a month and 10 per cent for all over that were not entirely met, increases ranging from $15 to $25 a month were decided upon. The positions mainly affected are those of junior, senior and head clerk. The highest present salary affected is $170. The board did not consider making an increase for the $200 a month position placed before the Council. It is probable an appeal will be made for further increase for a number of the classes under civil service.

The committee appearing before the board was headed by President Richard Hamb, Secretary J. W. McNeice and Henry F. Vogt. When the board's recommendation is placed before the Council it is probable an appeal will be made for further increase for a number of the classes under civil service. About 200 positions are involved. The increase so far allowed amounts to about $20,000 a year.

Company Indicted For Lost Records

Failure of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company to keep permanent records of its history and operations, thus violating a rule of the Interstate Commerce Commission, resulted in an indictment being returned against the company by the Federal grand jury yesterday. Discovery that the records had been discarded in a "house-cleaning" and that no violation of the commission's rules was intended. The indictment charges that the records were destroyed in Tiburon, Marin county, April 15, 1916. Bail has been fixed at $1,000. Conviction will mean a fine.

Business and College Girls Harvest Rivals

SADIE KUKULINSKI, type of business woman now at U. C. Farm, harvesting crops.

At Davis, where the State University Farm is, there is expected to be some rivalry within the next week or so that will go so far to determine the relative value of college and business training, as has to do with muscular endeavor of the more strenuous variety. It is all because a number of young women whose careers have been of business, have gone to the farm to help harvest crops while their brothers and sweethearts are fighting. Also, impelled by the same motive, a number of college women have gone to the farm to harvest crops while vacation is on and whether or not they know that they are being tested, they are, for the business women said before their departure from Berkeley Monday that they were determined to prove that a woman need not have had the muscle building experience that comes from college sports and campus pastimes to make her sufficiently strong to pitch hay and to do the other things of manual nature that a farmette will encounter. And so it is that so soon as the business contingent gets going it will set a pace that will keep the women from college hustling to keep up their end of the day's work.

U. S. ACCUSES LOCAL FIRM OF TAX EVASION

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—The first criminal prosecution by the government in this district for evasion of the income tax and excess profits acts was moved today in the case of Sigmund Kirschberg, president, and Joseph S. Kirschberg, secretary of the Sun Tent and Awning Company, 37 Washington street, following information filed with the United States attorney's office by Collector of Internal Revenue Justus S. Wardell today.

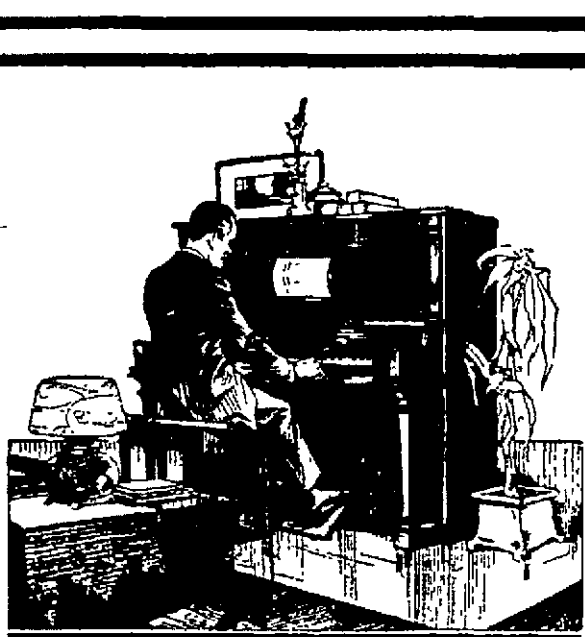

The company had already been penalized and had paid to Collector Wardell a total of $77,000, being a $33,500 penalization at the rate of 100 per cent for their evasion of tax payments in 1916 and 1917. This payment was made recently after a threat to forfeit the company and its stock to the government.

It is charged in the evidence which was presented today by Revenue Agent W. W. Anderson, that the Kirschbergs entered into a conspiracy to defraud the government by the use of fictitious invoices for merchandise, the padding of expense accounts and the altering of their books to show the company's business had not come within the meaning of the income tax act applying to corporations of September 8, 1916.

Further investigations by Revenue Agents A. W. Williams and F. R. Elliot reveal that the company, by pooling its interests and workshop with another firm manufacturing similar goods, had obtained a large number of army contracts and had falsified entries in the Sun Tent and Awning Company's ledgers showing no profit on the transactions.

Collector Wardell will urge upon Annette Adams, acting United States attorney for this district, that drastic prosecution of the Kirschbergs be made and it is expected that warrants for their arrest will be asked immediately.

This case is but a forerunner of other similar actions where individuals and corporations have evaded payment of their income tax by making false and fraudulent returns, and within the next ten days criminal prosecution is expected to follow in those cases where criminal intent is revealed. More than $100,000 has already been paid in compromise penalties, according to Collector Wardell today, since April 1, and huge sums are expected to be added to the returns of the revenues officers in this district which comprises California, Nevada and Hawaii, as a result of the investigations of 150 field agents who are now at work under the direction of Revenue Agent Anderson.
